ENCINITAS — Local artist Cheryl Ehlers was selected to present a painting for the United Nations, International Peace Day, 2013.

Her five-foot-by-12-foot canvas, "Silent Beauty" will be displayed in New York, then in Paris, to be projected on the UN building.

At home in San Diego, it will be used on the Women Mural Miles in collaboration with Art Miles Mural Project and the San Diego Women Foundation for its upcoming campaign.

"What an honor to be involved with so many wonderful people, organizations and groups that are united in the cause of spreading world peace and using art as one of the vehicles to reach out and communicate the message," Ehlers said.

"My canvas depicts the strength of women through the gawky age of teens, to the beauty of the mid life, and into the gentle aging of a woman," she wrote. "Beauty and silence are communication outlets that bring understanding, compassion, peace and love into the world.

Coupled with the depiction of two green turtles both a male and female carry the weight of the world on their back and bring fortune to those they come in contact with."

world on Sept. 21. The first Peace Day was observed in September 1982.

Ehlers is the owner of a nonprofit The Stardust Arts, who works to provide underserved youth an art education in the development of their imagination and creativity and is recognized by the California State Assembly for her contributions to the San Diego County community.

Also, an arts advocate for several local organizations supporting causes for the underserved communities, TERi Inc., Art Miles Mural Project and the North County African Women's Association, she is a publisher of the artists local ARTBUZZ and works for Encinitas as an Arts Administrators Assistant and an event coordinator.
